From Sandra:

Here is a list of helpful stop motion supplies that are completely optional and not necessary to have for this class. The most necessary one I would say is a bluetooth remote for your phone, but I will teach you how to use headphones with volume adjusters as a bluetooth remote. I will also teach you how to make tripods out of household supplies like mugs and books. This is mostly for any of you who want to invest in a budget kit and will plan on shooting stop motion regularly.
