

Smithsonian Associates Studio Arts COVID-19 Guidelines for In-Person Classes

(Updated 4/22/2022)

We know the decision to join an in-person program is one where each of us must determine our own comfort level. The Smithsonian has safety measures in place to protect the health of our visitors, staff, and volunteers based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and local governments and may adjust those measures based on changing CDC COVID-19 Community Levels. The CDC defines COVID Community Levels by evaluating COVID conditions at the county level. Smithsonian then aggregates relevant counties to determine regional levels.

For students registering for an in-person Studio Arts class, please be advised that safety and mitigation measures will be enacted (or rescinded) as soon as feasible following a change in regional Community Level. All students will be notified of any changes to mask or vaccine policies that may occur after you register or at any point during your multi-week course.

Mitigations based on COVID-19 Community Levels

LOW	MEDIUM	HIGH
DAILY HEALTH SCREENING
Required	Required	Required
MASK USAGE INDOORS
Voluntary	Recommended	Mandatory
SOCIAL DISTANCING
Voluntary	Recommended	Mandatory
PROOF OF VACCINATION
Not Required	Students must show proof of being fully vaccinated	Students must show proof of being fully vaccinated.  Other measures may be enacted including testing, program postponement, or transition to a virtual platform.

Note: As COVID-19 mitigations continue to change, students are asked to kindly review the Smithsonian Associates refund policy <https://smithsonianassociates.org/ticketing/help/refund-policy> prior to enrolling in a Studio Arts class.

As always, our classrooms will continue to be a mask-friendly environment and social distancing is still encouraged. We also ask anyone who is sick or feels unwell to please stay home.
